

Recruitment Pack – Caseworker, Salford Northern Care Alliance

Day One is an ambitious young charity dedicated to supporting people affected by serious and life changing injury. Maturing and entering our fifth year of operation we are entering an exciting phase of development.

In just a few years, Day One Trauma Support has evolved from a pioneering idea into a movement — with people affected by serious and life-changing injury supporting each other and showing that recovery is more than just survival.

We are committed to building on these foundations — because our greatest strength is our community: people with lived experience who are experts in their own recovery.

Alongside our ‘community’ are our specialist teams who are experts in ‘being there’ from Day One, wrapping the right support around people in the immediate aftermath of injury, through to the later stages of recovery.

Our Strategic Ambition:

To build a UK-wide community of support, anyone affected by serious and life-changing injury can easily connect, to find information about recovery and those who can support their journey.

Day One Trauma Support’s challenge is clear: to grow in depth, reach, and influence. Continually reviewing and improving, designing and testing new approaches when we spot unmet need or an opportunity to do better. — this will help us move towards achieving our vision: a future where no one is left to cope with serious and life-changing injury alone.

Our mission is to help anyone affected rebuild their life — from Day One and for as long as it takes.

Joining at an exciting time as we prepare a three-year strategy 2026-29.

We are a Living Wage accredited employer and offer an excellent benefits package within an inclusive and supportive working environment.

To establish and develop relationships with key stakeholders to promote Day One and address the needs of those affected by serious and life-changing injury.

To work as part of the wider Day One Service's team and organisation, taking responsibility for own record keeping and data collection in line with regulatory requirements.

KEY RESPONSIBILITIES

The post holder's primary duties and responsibilities are as follows:

- Work closely, and in partnership, with NHS clinical staff and relevant community and voluntary sector organisations, to address the needs of patients, and those closest to them, affected by serious and life-changing injury.
- Operate a case management approach to individuals, assessing and identifying needs, putting support in place including signposting, making referrals and direct support.
- Provide consistency in assessment of all patients and their loved ones, irrespective of injury cause, age, status, giving access to the earliest possible specialist legal advice which supports rehabilitation and NHS cost recovery.
- Maintain detailed case records, including accurate records of activity and intervention, using Day One's Customer Relationship Management (CRM) system, capturing and storing data in line with Day One policies and procedures and regulatory requirements.
- Contributing towards report writing through the writing case studies and narrative to support data collection.
- Implement processes and procedures to collect patient and family feedback and contribute to ongoing monitoring and evaluation of Day One services through providing relevant information, case studies and reports.
- Deliver awareness raising presentations to clinical colleagues and departments.
- Organise and facilitate outpatient and in person legal clinic drop-in sessions.
- Build awareness of the role and charity's purpose through building strong and effective relationships across the regional major trauma network, ensuring those who need it have access to Day One support.
- Work closely with local authority, statutory and voluntary organisations to provide patient and family support and advocacy.
- Help establish other support mechanisms once a person is no longer within the hospital setting, supporting the patient discharge process in conjunction with leadership from NHS staff.
- Identify and support the recruitment and supervision of Day One volunteers, where appropriate.
- Work closely in partnership with our Peer Support Service, focussed on promoting awareness and uptake within the region.
- Work closely with the wider team on performance, quality, safety and effectiveness of all services, ensuring appropriate safeguarding policies are followed.

- Work closely with our Fundraising and Communications team, supporting national activity, as well as regional initiatives to raise awareness and fundraise.
- Be prepared to travel across the region and, on occasion, to other sites and national meetings as required.
- Willingness to undertake continuous development and training for the role, including mandatory Day One and NHS Trust specific training.
- Participate in external clinical supervision and monthly caseworker reflective practice to sessions to effectively explore and uphold professional boundaries within a safe, structure and supportive environment.
