@channel I'm writing a post for LinkedIn to advertise the brand/social media role. What's the best bit about working at Cast from Clay? Why should (or not!) someone work here? (FYI may screenshot your answers....)

The team! Everyone is working together towards a common goal and helping each other at the same time. There's no egos, everyone just wants to make sure we all get the best possible work done as a team.

No day is the same, every client/project want something different so figuring out their problems is both challenging and stimulating, and when those projects finish it's very satisfying!

It's a place where you work in a supportive team, share tasks and responsibility, and get help when things get busy, with a focus on balance and long-term cooperation.
