

Diocese of Chester
Diocesan Environment Adviser

Part Time: 14 hours per week.

Salary range: Full Time Equivalent £28,000 - £32,000 pro rata dependent on experience
Actual salary for working 14 hours per week: £11,200 - £12,800.

The Diocese of Chester is seeking to recruit a Diocesan Environment Adviser to this exciting new, part time role. They will work with the newly formed Eco Diocese Group as they inspire, encourage and support individuals, churches and other Christian communities to cherish creation, live responsibly and speak up. In particular, they will enable greater and more effective participation in the Eco Church initiative by individual parishes and deaneries.

The successful candidate will have a developed understanding of a variety of personal, local and political responses to environmental challenges as well as experience of environmental engagement in a local church, school or other organisation.

For informal conversation, contact:

Peter Froggatt, Director of Outreach: peter.froggatt@chester.anglican.org

The job description, person specification and application form can be downloaded from the Diocesan website: <https://www.chester.anglican.org/support-services/job-vacancies/other-vacancies/>

A DBS Disclosure may be required, and relevant Safeguarding training will be required for the successful candidate.

There is an Occupational Requirement for the postholder to be a practising Christian in accordance with the Equality Act, 2010.

Completed application forms should be returned to Mrs E A Geddes, Diocesan Director of Human Resources, preferably by email to liz.geddes@chester.anglican.org or by post to Church House, 5500 Daresbury Park, Warrington, WA4 4GE.

Closing date: 26th June 2024

Interviews: 11th July 2024

Chester Diocesan Board of Finance is a company limited by guarantee registered in England (no 7826) and a registered charity (no 248968)