About us

Introduction

We are the 5th oldest Oxford College of the 39 self-governing and independent colleges within the University of Oxford and the oldest Royal Foundation; in 2026 we will be celebrating our 700th anniversary of foundation. Described by our students as ‘the perfect size’, with around 600 students we’re slightly smaller than the average Oxford college, and our community is tight knit and friendly. Oriel brings together a world-class academic community of leading academics and researchers with high achieving and motivated students, underpinned by around 120 people working in the professional support teams. We like working together.

Located right in the middle of Oxford in beautiful buildings, the College has a rich history and has been home to Saint John Henry Newman, Saint Thomas More, Sir Walter Raleigh and two Noble Laureates, amongst many other influential thinkers.

We are currently upgrading our kitchens having completed a refurbishment of our beautiful dining hall and are just commencing working on our scholarly jewel of a Senior Library, designed by Henry Wyatt to house the gift of a library collection from Edward, fifth Baron Leigh (1742-1786).

Governance

The College's 48 elected Fellows operate as a Governing Body, supported by a number of specialist committees and sub-committees. Chaired by the Provost (acting as first among equals), the Governing Body is responsible for the strategic direction of the College together with its overall administrative and financial management.

The College is a registered charity and therefore subject to scrutiny by the Charity Commissioners. Fellows are keenly aware of their responsibilities as Trustees and of the need to negotiate increasingly complex compliance issues, not least in the field of employment law and staff management. Additional information about the College can be found on its website.
