About Harrogate Theatre

Harrogate Theatre is a home for stories, music, dance and comedy, where everyone is invited. We present a broad programme of live performance to entertain and intrigue audiences; bringing people together to hear diverse stories and share memorable experiences.

At the heart of the organisation is a commitment to nurturing emerging and established talent. We support artist development, offer our resources to local community and amateur theatre groups, and deliver a thriving education and participation programme.

2022/23 Achievements:

- £4.2 million turnover
- Over 134,000 tickets sold through box office
- 70% average attendance of capacity
- 11 artists/companies associated artists supported
- 295 youth theatre workshops delivered
- 10 performances took place in step-free venues to improve access
- Around £20 million economic impact to Harrogate district

Harrogate Theatre is run by Harrogate (White Rose) Theatre Trust Ltd (HWRTT), which is a registered charity.

Harrogate Theatre is funded by North Yorkshire Council and also receives project funding from Arts Council England. The theatre is a 'mixed economy' venue that produces and co-produces its own work whilst hosting professional touring companies and presenting a programme of diverse entertainment from across the performing arts. The theatre is home to a number of local community theatre groups and also receives national recognition for the nurturing of new talent and emerging artists.

Following a decade of continual growth Harrogate Theatre, in partnership with the former Harrogate Borough Council, accepted programming responsibilities for the 2,000 seat Harrogate Convention Centre and the 1,000 seat Royal Hall in 2012 alongside the 500 seat Victorian Theatre and 60 seat Studio on Oxford Street. The four spaces are referred to collectively as 'Harrogate Theatres'. Programming responsibilities at the Harrogate Convention Centre and the Royal Hall are currently under review.

Harrogate Theatre has a busy creative engagement department, which delivers workshops and substantial support for groups in both the formal and informal educational sectors across the district. Harrogate Youth Theatre has in excess of 100 members that range from 5-18 years old and is based in the neighbouring dedicated education space Hive, at 12a Oxford Street.

About the role

Responsible to: Head of Marketing.

Working with: all departments to realise individual giving and fundraising event opportunities.

Hours: 37.5 hours per week, including some evening and weekend work.

Salary: £28,000 - £32,000 depending on experience.

Holidays: 23 days per annum (extra day after five years continual service and then one extra day every year worked after that) and public holidays.

Terms: Permanent on completion of a successful 6 month probationary period.

Notice: Two months.

The Fundraising Manager, in conjunction with the Board of Directors, the Strategic, Marketing & Operations Teams, is responsible for the fundraising success of HWRTT. This includes individual giving and fundraising events that align with the Mission Statement of the Trust. This new and vital role is a great opportunity for a sales-driven individual with a clear track record of generating income through these avenues.

- You will be motivated by ambitious targets, you will devise, deliver and manage a robust individual giving income generation strategy, working alongside the Strategic Team, Marketing, Operations and the Board of Directors.
- You will be joining the organisation at a moment of pivotal change as public funding opportunities are rapidly reducing and we look to ensure our sustainability, so funds are invested directly back into the wide range of charitable activities that HWRTT delivers for its community.
- You will be accustomed to working under pressure, with a small and committed team, to set and deliver a giving strategy aligned with the organisational vision, identifying and delivering on opportunities to increase donations and charitable giving.
- You will possess an entrepreneurial and collaborative approach, be a proficient communicator, skilled in connecting with people at all levels within the organisation and with a wide range of stakeholders including volunteers, staff, trustees, artists, clients, communities, corporate hires and business partners to work towards generating donations.
- You will spearhead new development areas that interface with the wider aspect of tourism in the town whilst building on the fundraising aims of the organisation. You will be a customer service champion for HWRTT, ensuring strategies are fully understood externally and communicated within the organisation.
- The role covers all areas of the HWRTT including all four auditoria & public spaces, the bars, Creative Engagement, the Artistic Programme and the Associate Artist Scheme.
