

Housing Manager London

Full time, permanent contract, 35 hours per week

Location: London with some travel across the UK

Salary: £31,500-£36,000 depending on experience, including London weighting

Start date: as soon as possible

Deadline to apply: 22 October 2026

There are about 2,000 LGBTQI people claiming asylum in the UK every year because of their sexuality, gender identity or intersex status. When they come to the UK they are still not safe. They are often abused in refugee accommodation by other refugees who come from the same or similar countries to the one they are escaping; they become homeless and depressed; and they are rejected by their ethnic community and live in poverty. Our work also shows a dramatic need for employability and moving on support. When LGBTQI asylum seekers are granted refugee status, they are often given only 28 days to find new accommodation and a job. 28 days are not enough to prepare for a new life in a new country. This is a critical point for many refugees: without the right support they are at risk of homelessness, exploitation and depression.

The job involves managing up to 16 safe houses in London and the South East and visiting them weekly, managing complex-needs cases, meeting with LGBTQI asylum seekers on a regular basis to establish their suitability to access Micro Rainbow's programmes. It also involves supporting them while they live in Micro Rainbow's safe houses and to move on from our safe houses into permanent accommodation.

The ideal candidate is someone who is passionate about equality and has the ability to connect and empathise with vulnerable people whilst maintaining strict professional boundaries.

Micro Rainbow will provide training and on-going support.
