1. YOUTH REALITIES

Youth Realities is a youth-led charity based in Barnet, addressing teenage relationship abuse through creative education and specialist, survivor-centred support.

Youth Realities aims to:

- Reduce abuse within teenage relationships
- Raise awareness and challenge abuse through education
- Empower young people's personal development & growth
- Provide advocacy and trusted support for young survivors.

Youth Realities was founded in 2017; our mission is to end relationship abuse by working with young people to provide specialist spaces for prevention, intervention and healing

Our vision is a world where young people live free from relationship abuse and violence.

We believe strongly in prevention, using creativity and forming trusted relationships to engage and empower young people to form positive change in their own lives and wider communities.

Everything we do is 'youth-led' and 'survivor-centred' which means we centre the needs and experiences of young people and survivors, providing regular opportunities for them to feedback, co-produce and lead on the delivery, design and development of the charity.

Our values, embedded in the heart of our work are: youth-led, survivor-centred, safe, equitable and audacious.

2. PROGRAMME OVERVIEW

1:1 Support & Advocacy:

We provide a specialist 1:1 service for young women and girls aged 11-25 living, studying or based in close proximity to Barnet and neighbouring boroughs.

Our long term, 18 months support, programme engages young women and girls with direct experiences of relationship abuse, sexual violence, intra-familial abuse, exploitation, and/or where there are significant risk indicators present in the young persons life that may increase their exposure to harm.

Young women and girls are referred through professional, self and peer or familial pathways and will be engaged in weekly or fortnightly support. The service is offered from a space safe for them, including our community spaces, at their home or within their educational setting.

The support offered includes:

Advocacy within police stations, hospitals, courts, schools, social care and MARAC / other professional meetings. This also includes completing regular risk assessments and safety plans.

Practical development to increase their social stability, employment, health care and general independence. This may include supporting job and education applications, assisting with access to financial support and access to housing.

Emotional support (pre and post-separation) through therapeutic activities, space and providing advice and guidance to equip and empower better socio-emotional health. Working with young women to help them thrive, free from abuse and violence.

This role is managed by a SafeLives' qualified Domestic Violence Service Manager, operating within all associated children and adult safeguarding frameworks and legislation. This role will directly manage a caseload of up to 10 young people of varying ages, needs and experiences.

How our service is different from traditional IDVA models:

- We offer long term support for up to 18 months, enabling you to build trusted and safe relationships that exceed immediate, crisis intervention and also focus on implementing a support package for continued development once a survivor has achieved immediate safety
- We keep our caseloads low and manageable, supporting no more than 10 young women and girls at any one time. This has been proven to reduce stress and burn out, whilst increasing your capacity to create a targeted and needs-based response for each young person
- Our interventions are holistic and flexible, ranging from trips and outings, to visits in school, at home or a safe local community space. This approach enables you to have more freedom over how the intervention is shaped and delivered, reducing rigidity and any feelings the relationship is impersonal
- We offer access to a range of healing opportunities outside of the 1:1 Support, including fortnightly group trips with other young survivors to establish connection and reduce isolation, fortnightly group wellbeing workshops, access to Youth Employment opportunities within our creative education curriculum and opportunities to shape the organisation through our independent Youth Board.

Young women and girls supported have said:

“The ongoing support provided is amazing, I wouldn’t change anything, it’s extremely helpful and effective.”

“Really love this organisation <3 keep doing what you’re doing it’s so important and so helpful”

“She took me in and transformed my story of being a victim to being a survivor. She provided me with endless life changing opportunities, using my story and educating myself on domestic abuse in order not only to help myself but others. She brought out a totally different side of me, the side that had been lost and destroyed due to my past experiences. I began to realise my worth and potential, slowly my life began to turn back to normal, school life, family life and reconnected with old friendships.”
