

Migrant Democracy Project Values

We have Lived Experience

Our migrant experience and struggles guide our work. Migrant Democracy Project was set up by first-generation migrants to work in the interests of first-generation migrants.

We are Anti-Racist

Anti-racism is at the heart of our work and partnerships. We know people are racialised in a system of white supremacy, disproportionately impacting black and brown migrants as well as British-born people of colour.

We work in Solidarity

We work for and with migrants and oppressed communities fighting for social justice, acknowledging our collective power. We stand as allies, share resources, and make collective demands to shape a more just society.

We are Intersectional

Our experience of migration intersects with multiple systems of inequality and forms of discrimination. Migrant Democracy Project understands and challenges forms of discrimination to prevent the reinforcement of inequalities.

We Empower Migrants

We build migrant power through information, training, and organising collective action on shared goals.

We are Building Power

We are campaigning for long-term, structural change as well as short-term wins. We work with people at different stages of their political journey to achieve shared goals.
