

Hello and thank you for considering a career at Age UK.

Thank you for considering this role at Age UK, at a time when we urgently need talented and passionate colleagues to create powerful fundraising. Coronavirus and now the cost of living crisis have worsened an already devastating situation for many older people, particularly those who are isolated or cut off from others. The broken care system, increased frailty or poor health, loneliness and isolation creates uniquely challenging circumstances for those in later life. Fundraising powers Age UK's ability to help those older people who need us most.

You may already be familiar with our fundraising campaigns and stories, most often told directly by older people. You may have seen us engage the likes of Cadbury, Santander and innocent to deliver award-winning fundraising partnerships or seen the incredible programmes and services we've been able to deliver with high value grants from the National Lottery, Sport England and numerous charitable trusts.

You'll be joining at a very exciting time for Age UK strategically, as we have recently welcomed our new CEO, Paul Farmer. Cross-organisationally, we are collaborating to not only ensure that we have a clear vision and plan to support older people now and in the future, but also the investment and resources to propel our fundraising even further. As the UK and beyond faces new challenges, we need to be there to help older people face them. We will continue to invigorate our fundraising, grow our income and create new opportunities for engagement. We need ambitious, collaborative and goodhumoured colleagues to help us achieve this.

Within this pack you will hear more about the sheer scale of the issues affecting older people in the UK and the excellent, professional and compassionate work that Age UK does to help millions of older people every year.

Age UK is a charity for everyone. Many of us will need Age UK's support in time, whether for yourself, or for older people you know and love. I hope you will consider bringing your expertise to help Age UK to help the older people weather any storms that lie ahead.

Thank you,

Laurie Boult

Executive Director - Fundraising & Engagement

Age UK is the national charity for older people.

Our mission is simple - to be here for older people who need our help the most.

Right now, millions of people in later life are facing some of the toughest challenges imaginable:

- Over 2 million older people were already living below the poverty line before the current cost of living crisis, struggling to afford the basics such as adequate food and heating.
- 1.6million older people are going without the care they need
- 1.2 million older people often feel lonely, and rely on the TV or radio just to hear another voice.

Sadly, all too often older people have to face these issues and more all alone with no help. 225,000 older people often go a week without talking to anyone.

That's why Age UK exists. We are here when older people need us.

Our free national advice line is open every day of the year. Our 130+ local Age UKs provide frontline friendship and practical services in the heart of communities everywhere. Through our campaigning we stand up for the most vulnerable older people in out society.

Together with our local Age UKs, we helped over 7 million people last year.

But there's so many more older people who desperately need our help. We can only be here for every older person who needs us if we act together with others.

We rely on the generosity of hundreds of thousands of supporters. Those who choose to donate to us, fundraise for us, or remember us in their wills. Our corporate partners, trusts, foundations and public sector bodies, and the staff who work for them, as well as the skills and expertise they provide in kind.

Colin is why we do what we do.

"Nothing can prepare you for losing the love of your life. Or the terrible loneliness and feelings of complete emptiness that follow. When my beautiful wife Joan Ann died from cancer after 25 wonderful years together, in a cruel instant, I went from two to one.

My gorgeous wife had gone, but I would have given anything just to hold her hand and look into her eyes again.

That first Christmas on my own was a particularly difficult time. Everyone else seemed to be enjoying the festivities, but it made me feel even more alone and an outsider.

It was Age UK that became my lifeline.

Just having someone to talk to can make a world of difference

I first called Age UK's advice line for some advice about money. They were so helpful and caring and must have sensed that I was lonely and needed someone to talk to. So they told me about the charity's Call in Time befriending service too. I was paired with a lady who calls me every week. We get on so well, she's like another daughter to me. It made me feel like there's light at the end of the tunnel.

Age UK has been there for me in so many ways, I can't begin to tell you the difference this has made to my life.

As I know only too well, when you are just one, having the advice line and also someone to chat to about anything and everything, can be a lifesaver when they might otherwise feel at their loneliest and most desperate."

Colin describes his befriender as his second daughter and 'light at the end of the tunnel'. Their weekly conversations have also inspired Colin to start a counselling course, to help other people in similar circumstances who might also be struggling.

Our fundraising

Age UK is powered by the funds we raise. We're bold about asking for support. We innovate to reach our target audiences. We partner with organisations who share our vision and brands that can help tell our story. We build deep, long-term relationships with our supporters because it's only thanks to them that we can be here for older people.

No One Should Have No One To Turn To

Our award-winning 'No One' campaign is an integrated above and below the line collaboration of colleagues across Fundraising, Brand, PR, Campaigning and our front line teams.

The campaign raises awareness of the challenges getting older can bring, such as coming to terms with a bereavement or becoming a carer for a loved one, and calls on the public to donate to help Age UK be there for the older people who need them.

Annually the campaign raises over £750,000 and provides long term support for older people as thousands of supporters set up regular gifts and text-to-donate. Through partnerships we bring the issue of loneliness front of mind across the UK – we've collaborated with well known and loved brands such as John Lewis with 'The Man on the Moon' Christmas TV advertisement.

Donate Your Words

Our award-winning cause related marketing partnership with Cadbury Dairy Milk helped to shine a light on the devastating effects of loneliness on older people and raised over £300,000 to fund Age UK's vital friendship and support services.

To highlight the fact that 225,000 older people often go a whole week without speaking to anyone, Cadbury created a limited-edition Dairy Milk bar, removing all the words and 'donating' them to Age UK. The charity received 30p from the sale of each bar. The campaign also encouraged the public to take action to end loneliness by donating their words and acts of kindness - more than 460,000 people pledged their support.

The innocent Big Knit

One of the most iconic corporate partnerships in the charity sector, The innocent Big Knit has been running since 2003 and has raised millions of pounds. This surprising collaboration between Age UK and innocent drinks has inspired thousands of people of all ages to knit tiny woolly hats for smoothie bottles. Every be-hatted smoothie sold raises 25p to help Age UK be there for older people through our local and national work.

Each tiny hat is unique and knitted by hand. Designs range from the beautiful to the bizarre. Even after almost 20 years this campaign feels as fresh as fresh-fruit smoothie and brings new supporters to Age UK.

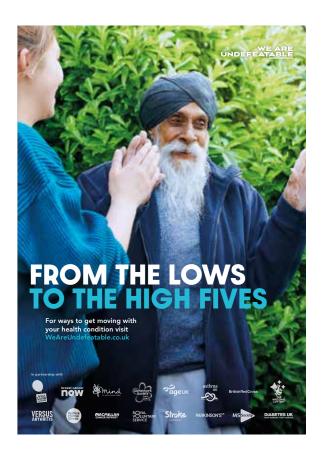

Our Sport England partnership

We've secured a number of high value partnerships with large strategic funders from The Big Lottery to the Ministry of Defence to utility companies and banks. Our partners share our ambition to provide direct, practical support to older people most in need.

Through a multi-million pound partnership with 14 health charities, funded by Sport England through the National Lottery Community Fund, we have recently led a ground-breaking national behaviour change campaign called We Are Undefeatable to inspire older people and those with long-term health conditions to get active. Through the strength of this collaboration, the campaign has reached millions of people in the UK through social media content, PR, national print, outdoor and broadcast advertising.

Age UK Lottery and Raffles

Age UK has one of the largest charity lotteries in the sector, it's a significant and reliable source of funding for Age UK, raising c£11 million per annum. We are the only charity lottery in the sector that runs two draws per week - one on Friday and one on Tuesday.

Our quarterly Superdraws and Raffles give players the chance to win the largest prize fund in the charity market, with a total prize pool of £75,000. We market the Lottery across a range of marketing channels and the team are always looking for new ways to promote the product as a win-win way to support Age UK.

Legacy Giving

Thanks to the generosity of our supporters, Legacies are the biggest single source of voluntary income for Age UK. Our marketing and management teams work closely together to ensure that we continue to receive gifts in wills, into the future.

Our marketing programme works across multiple channels and takes a bold approach to innovation and are always testing new ways to engage our supporters; prospective and existing. Our management team looks to operate at the forefront of the sector and provide the best experience for legal professionals and lay executors working with Age UK.

What's it like to work at Age UK?

What do you love about working here?

I enjoy working in Fundraising because I get to work closely with people who are passionate about their work. The team is really inspired by the difference Age UK makes to the lives of older people. This motivates everyone to continually try new ideas and improve our performance. Everybody brings such great experience and expertise to their roles. I love that I have the opportunity to work with people across all the different Fundraising Teams and support them to achieve their ambitious plans.

Katherine, Fundraising Planning and Performance

Why would you recommend working for Age UK?

Working for Age UK allows you to take great pride in the Charity and the wider organisation in all the vital work that Age UK does up and down the country. It allows you to be part of a team effort to improve the lives of older people, and gives a platform for older people to raise their concerns and worries and how Age UK can help to address these. Age UK provides a truly collaborative environment to work in, that really allows you to be making a contribution to creating a better society. No two days are ever the same!

What's it like to work at Age UK?

What's your job?

I'm the Special Projects Marketing Manager in the Individual Marketing team, meaning I get to work on loads of different, exciting projects across lots of teams both in and out of fundraising.

What do I love about working here?

I love how varied my role is, and the friendly, hardworking team I get to work in.

Ruby, Individual Marketing

What do you love about working here?

Working for Age UK has been the most gratifying & rewarding experience of my career to date.

As a carer myself, it has been an absolute joy working with so many talented and ingenious people, collectively striving to ensure that older people continue to have access to the support & essential services they need.

I currently work across two teams within Age UK's Philanthropy Department – the Corporate & Major Donor Teams - & I love the fact that no two days are ever the same.

Furthermore, having started my Age UK career within their Supporter Care Department, I can testify that there are plenty of opportunities to develop and progress within the organisation!

Hassan, Fundraising

Age UK is a great place to work because...

We are committed to supporting staff and creating an environment where all colleagues feel empowered and working to their potential. Our My Time programme enables our employees to take ownership and map out their personal development journey through six core programmes.

Age UK recognises that every person has different needs, preferences and abilities and we strive to reflect this diversity in everything we do. This includes being accessible to people from all sectors of the community, attracting and retaining a diverse workforce and making our services and products inclusive. By positively valuing these differences and harnessing different life experiences, attributes and contributions Age UK will be a better place to work'

Too many older people have no one to turn to for support. We believe no older person should have to struggle alone. We're Age UK, the UK's leading charity for older people. We provide information, support, friendship and advice when it's needed most. Our services are a lifeline – could you help us reach even more people who need us?

The job, in a nutshell

We're looking for an experienced prospect researcher who has the skills to lead the creation and implementation of a research strategy for corporate partners, grant givers and major donors. The prospect researcher will help to identify prospects and support fundraisers to manage their pipelines, enabling them to deliver net income growth and an exceptional supporter experience.

What you'll do for us

- Develop and implement the fundraising research strategy across corporate partners, grant givers and major donors, identifying appropriate KPIs and milestones.
- Produce top line and in-depth biographical and professional research on companies, individuals, trusts, and public sector funders for fundraising teams, as well as the Senior Leadership Teams.
- Undertake strategic network-mapping, in line with Fundraising teams' activity plans, to understand the best opportunities for engaging with current and future high value prospects.

"Corporate Partnerships and Philanthropy are critical components in Age UK's Fundraising
mix. A new charity
strategy and increasing brand salience present
major opportunities to grow relationships and income in these areas. Our team are admired for their energy, ambition and resilience."

WE ACT TOGETHER

With and for older people - We act as one team, collaborating to get things done.

WE ARE FOCUSSED

On what makes most impact for older people - We never forget that older people are at the heart of everything we do.

Prospect Research Manager

- Develop and manage a prospect management system on Microsoft Dynamics to track and manage the movement of prospects through the database, reporting on portfolio activity and creating in-depth analysis for Senior Leadership Teams.
- Lead prospect portfolio reviews to assess the health of the pipeline and ensure the team is prioritising the right prospects at the right time.
- Devise and deliver training to the Partnerships, Philanthropy, Trusts and Public Sector Fundraising teams on the pipeline system and data consistency, creating and embedding business rules.
- Ensure the prospect research function is compliant by ensuring policies and processes such as the Deletion and Retention policy, Legitimate Interests Assessments, and Privacy Impact Assessments, are established, up to date and reviewed.
- Develop relationships with key stakeholders to help promote and champion the work of the prospect research team across the charity.
- Stay at the forefront of current trends and best practices in prospect development, sharing learning with the wider team as appropriate.

Must haves:

- Excellent and proven fundraising research skills.
- Experience managing supporter data through a CRM system.
- Experience of working in a high value fundraising function.
- Strong understanding of the General Data Protection Regulation and how it affects prospect research in relation to processing personal data.
- Strong verbal and written presentation abilities, with ability to share and distribute knowledge and expertise in a wide range of media to a range of audiences.
- Excellent relationship building, influencing and negotiation skills and an ability to interact with stakeholders at the highest levels in a professional and appropriate manner.
- High level of planning and organisation skills, able to work collaboratively and manage competing deadlines from different sources.
