Welcome letter

Too many of our young people are prevented from finding a job they love by a lack of access to appropriate information, advice and connections; inadequate support to overcome multiple layers of disadvantage; or as a result of discrimination. It is unacceptable that one in 10 young people in the UK are not in education, employment or training (NEET).

Young people from marginalised backgrounds are disproportionately likely to be neither earning nor learning, or underemployed, and their outcomes vary significantly more by region. This has been compounded by the pandemic that caused significant economic and educational disruption. As the economy recovers, the benefits are not being felt equally as long-term youth unemployment remains higher than pre-pandemic. This is the core mission of Youth Futures – to support young people facing disadvantage into the record number of job opportunities that are now available.

Long-term youth unemployment causes long-term scarring effects on the individual and their ability to fulfil their potential in society. This is worsened by the current cost of living crisis that is hitting young people hard - they pay double on essentials like rent and bills, compared to the over-50s. Yet the personal and economic prize for addressing this issue is significant. Supporting young people to secure good quality jobs is a sustainable way to tackle the cost of living crisis. UK GDP could benefit by £38billion by lowering levels of young workers classed as NEETs to German levels, according to our recent research.

We have the opportunity to create a profound change in the way this country supports young people from marginalised backgrounds into employment. Improving employment prospects for all young people is a crucial factor in achieving national productivity gains, reducing the benefits bill, and enhancing health and wellbeing in society. As the What Works centre for youth employment we take an evidence-led, structural and systems-based approach that recognises the importance of national learnings and local context. In 2021 we launched our Youth Employment Evidence and Gap Map – the world's largest, quality-checked evidence base on youth employment – that shows the global evidence base on what works to improve youth skills, employment and job quality.

We promote strong coordination and partnership working across government, funders, delivery organisations and employers. Our flagship £16 million Connected Futures Fund aims to address the fragmentation of youth employment and skills delivery in the places that need it most, so that young people furthest from the job market receive consistent high-quality support to address complex needs.

We continue to strengthen our organisation and team as we grow and evolve and this role will play a crucial part in supporting the organisation in achieving its vision, mission and business goals. If you are passionate about creating a better future for young people, we look forward to hearing from you.

Barry Fletcher, CEO

About us

Youth Futures Foundation is the What Works Centre for youth employment. We exist to address the significant disparities in youth employment for marginalised groups. We want to ensure that all young people can access and keep good quality jobs.

Youth Futures was founded in 2019 as an independent, not-for-profit organisation with funding from dormant assets to drive systemic change by:

- ❖ Giving grants to organisations that provide employment support to young people so that we can generate compelling evidence with high quality impact evaluation methodologies
- ❖ Driving evidence-based change in policy and working with employers and practitioners to improve practice. We help to connect and empower those who are commissioning and delivering youth employment services.

Our approach involves both the creation and curation of evidence. We create evidence by funding high-quality evaluations and programmes to understand whether interventions are effective. We curate evidence by gathering and presenting information from global studies into interventions that help young people into work.

Our vision

To create a society where all young people have equitable access to good quality jobs.

This includes:

- equal employment outcomes for young people who face discrimination or disadvantage
- a reduced number of young people outside the labour market or in insecure work
- improved progression pathways for young people

Our mission

To narrow the employment gap by identifying what works and why, investing in evidence generation and innovation, and igniting new ideas that change behaviour and practice.

Our primary beneficiaries are young people aged 14-24 who face at least one personal or systemic barrier to progressing into meaningful work, including:

- ethnic minorities, particularly those most at risk of facing disparities in the labour market (e.g. Pakistani; Bangladeshi; Black; Mixed; Gypsy, Roma and Traveller) And/or: young people legally defined as children in need
- young parents, or those who have a caring responsibility
- economic disadvantage (e.g. eligible for free school meals or living in an area of high deprivation)
- special educational needs or disabilities
- experience of offending
- school exclusion or alternative provision
- experience of homelessness
- a mental health or long-term health condition
- experience of problem substance use

Our values

We are bold

We want to disrupt the status quo and transform the youth-employment system

We are always learning

We are evidence-driven, we innovate and we aren't afraid to fail

We are inclusive

We embrace, celebrate and champion diversity in all its forms – it's core to who we are

We are collaborative

We build partnerships and share power to increase the collective impact

We are determined

We are relentless in our pursuit of a better future for all young people

Our strategic approach

We are an ambitious organisation that takes a systemic approach to supporting young people from marginalised backgrounds to move into good quality jobs.

From 2023–25 we will be focusing on four strategic priorities:

- 1 Building capacity – Influence the commissioning and delivery of youth employment and training services to be routinely based on evidence of what works.
- 2 Systems change – Use evidence, learning and practice, driven by young people, to mend a fragmented system and influence place-based policy.
- 3 Creating opportunities – Develop evidence-based and practical business cases for employer behaviour change, based on best practice in recruiting and retaining young people from marginalised backgrounds, scaling up that learning to target places, expanded networks and key partnerships.
- 4 Organisational health – Deliver a strong foundation for Youth Futures, based on a well-resourced, positive and financially stable environment in which our people thrive, risk is effectively managed and we deliver our mission.

Equity, diversity and inclusion statement

The young people we aim to serve - and the challenges they face - are all unique. We need to build a team that reflects this diversity, is highly skilled and committed. Our commitment to inclusion across all protected characteristics, experiences and socioeconomic background forms the cornerstone of our work.

We work hard to ensure we have a diverse and inclusive workforce. We use identity-blind software for all our permanent recruitment campaigns to reduce unconscious bias during recruitment. We have flexible working policies which are kept under review and many of the more flexible working practices we adopted during lockdown have been retained. The recruitment of our team around our three hubs of Birmingham, Leeds and London has enabled us to attract a greater diversity of talent than simply focusing recruitment in one city.

In building the Board, the Future Voices Group, and making external appointments to the Grants Committee, we have also ensured our governance and advisory structures contain a broad diversity of background and experience.

We are committed to encouraging an open, collaborative, safe and inclusive working environment. We have an EDI committee, formed of a group of employees, with a senior leadership team lead, who have a keen interest or experience of EDI and work together on issues or concerns related to equity, diversity and inclusion at work. The committee address and implement proactive strategies relating to EDI, support policy reviews and revisions, be the employees voice to Senior Leadership Team members and share feedback for continual improvement on our organisational wide values and commitment to EDI.

We are Disability Confident and have committed to ensuring that we attract, recruit, retain, support and develop disabled people in the workplace. We aim to continually improve and develop our talent attraction and inclusive recruitment practices to be reflective of our organisational behaviours and culture.

We are committed to the charter as an employer positive about mental health in the workplace and are a Mindful Employer.

We are a Living Wage Employer, as we believe a hard day's work deserves a fair day's pay. Our base rate of hourly pay is in line with the London Living Wage.

- ❖ Manage data flowing from evaluators and ensuring smooth submission to secure data repositories, including those held in the ONS Secure Research Service.
- ❖ Provide ad-hoc analysis support to all teams regarding any relevant data flows, while ensuring all teams follow appropriate policies and procedures.
- ❖ Provide additional support for other research activities, including evidence synthesis, and evidence reviews.
- ❖ Ensure that data is accessible, manageable and supported with the appropriate level of metadata and documentation.
- ❖ Support the delivery of in-house projects related to improving the data infrastructure within the organisation.
- ❖ Apply various approaches of using data to gain insights on how we utilise our Data Dashboard and other data analysis projects.
- ❖ Co-ordinate, and manage communications with essential stake holders, which includes the users of our data (practitioners, employers) and organisations that use our evidence (government, other think tanks, etc.).
- ❖ Support the Principal Economist to track and monitor the analytics from our Data Dashboard.
- ❖ Create and maintain a database, collating, and cataloguing existing and future Youth Futures analysis and evaluation research.
- ❖ Sharing updates and findings of analysis projects internally and externally, through internal communications channels and external events such as 'lunch and learns' and webinars.
- ❖ Develop and contribute to research outputs - reports, briefing notes, infographics, toolkits, workshops, blogs, etc.
- ❖ Contribute to Youth Futures' broader research and evidence requirements and good practice toolkits.
