 - review the board's own work and how effectively it operates including action for improvement

How much time do you need to give?

Trustee boards usually meet in the evenings for two hours between five and seven times a year.

You will need to give time to read board papers in advance of board meetings, as well as time to meet the specific responsibilities of the Treasurer role.

You may need to attend other meetings if you're involved in specific projects, or meet with volunteers and staff occasionally. We ask trustees to also attend one full day per year for board development.

Our volunteers come from a range of backgrounds and we particularly welcome applications from disabled people, people with physical or mental health conditions, LGBT+ and non-binary people, and people from Black Asian Minority Ethnic (BAME) communities.
