

Are you interested in developing youth-led social media content about mental health and climate change?

HFEH Mind has an exciting opportunity for a content creator focusing on youth-led content around the intersect between climate change and children and young people's mental health. This is a paid, part-time opportunity.

This role will involve:

- Content creation around the topic.
- Developing a social media campaign promoting personal wellbeing in the climate emergency.
- Running a co-production youth panel.
- Co-creating workshops and toolkits to support with eco-anxiety.

You will:

- Have experience/an interest in creating and distributing youth led media/content.
- Have an interest in climate change action/mental health.
- Ideally be located in or close to Hammersmith, Fulham, Ealing or Hounslow.

Please contact climate@HFEHmind.org.uk, if you have any questions, or to discuss any support you may need for your application.

To apply please scan the QR code.
Closing date for applications is
5th April 2026

